Municipal Court Holds Pre-Trial For Jury Cases

Pre-trial hearings, involving 11 defendants and their attorneys who had requested jury trials for traffic offenses, began 11 a.m. Tuesday in Municipal Court.

Four men, two with double charges, were told their rights by Judge Sterling Lamb this morning. Seven more cases will be decided upon Tuesday afternoon.

The hearings, copied from Franklin County Municipal Court procedure, will become standard practice in Circleville court to determine if defendants want actual trial by jury or trial by judge.

In morning hearings, Lamb stressed excessive court costs which will be charged to defendants if they are found guilty.

HE noted that the 12-member alternate jury, needed to decide each case will cost $7.50 per member per day, not counting additional court costs for subpoenas, witness fees, mileage and other extras.

He estimated that if a defendant is proven guilty, costs, not counting fines and lawyer fees, could run near $400 per case.

Defendants called for hearings this morning were:

Harold K. Glass, 43, Portsmouth, arrested April 30, 1972, for driving while intoxicated and tested .18 on the breathalyzer.

Leslie W. Brown, 61, 371 Logan St., arrested Feb. 12, 1972 for driving while intoxicated and tested .29%.

Mrs. Onassis Pays Visit To John F. Kennedy Center

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Aristotle Onassis attended a performance of Leonard Bernstein's "Mass" at the John F. Kennedy Center Monday night and, her acquaintances said, liked both the opera house and the performance.

This was the former Mrs. Kennedy's first visit to the national cultural center which bears her husband's name, and her first viewing of the Bernstein composition which she asked him to compose for the opening of the Kennedy Center last Sept. 8.

Bernstein told a reporter after the performance that Mrs. Onassis seemed to like the work, but made no specific comment.

She entered the center, as do most visitors, through the Hall of Nations, a huge corridor hung with the flags of more than 100 countries, and—turning a corner—saw for the first time a six-foot-high bust of her late husband, sculptured by Robert Berks.

Mrs. Roger L. Stevens, whose husband is chairman of the board of trustees of the center and who shared a box with Mrs. Onassis, said the former Mrs. Kennedy declined to comment on the bust.

Mrs. Onassis wended her way down the stairs at the opera house and went backstage after the performance to greet some of the members of the 200-person cast.

The widow of the 35th president had been expected to appear when the center opened last September, but she declined the invitation at the last minute on grounds that her appearance would arouse intense emotional excitement among the audience.

Monday night's performance was perhaps better than those which opened the center to sell-out crowds last September. The cast was essentially the same, with direction again by Gordon Davidson, conducting by Maurice Peress and choreography by Alvin Ailey, but the score and the direction had been polished.

Ruling Expected On Medical Ads

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Federal Judge Thomas Lambrus says he will rule Wednesday on whether a three-judge panel should consider the constitutionality of an Ohio law on medical practices, including advertising.

The judge refused Monday to enjoin local officials from threatening prosecution over abortion signs of a Michigan firm.

Attorney Gerald A. Messer, representing Martin Mitchell Enterprises, Inc., of Oak Park, Mich., told Lambrus the threatening letters were violating free speech.

Both Cleveland and Cuyahoga County officials have been advising building owners they could be prosecuted for letting the firm paint advertisements on buildings. Signs of the profit-making firm, which performs abortions in New York, list a Detroit number where callers can get information on abortions and sterilization.

McGovern Favored In Crucial Test

3 Other States Hold Primaries To Pick Delegates

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California holds its crucial Democratic presidential primary today with Sen. George McGovern the strong favorite to capture the state's 271 delegates and take a big step toward winning the Democratic nomination.

New Jersey, New Mexico and South Dakota also are holding presidential primaries. The South Dakota Democrat expects to take a majority of the 144 delegates in those states.

"I'm going to predict here this afternoon we'll win all four of the primaries," McGovern told several thousand cheering supporters in Albuquerque, N.M., Monday before flying to Houston, Tex., to confer with Democratic governors.

Success in the four primaries could shoot McGovern's delegate total past the 850 mark—1,509 are needed to nominate—and virtually end Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey's hopes of winning the Democratic nomination for the second time.

If Humphrey defeats McGovern in California, however, McGovern's surge toward the nomination would be halted and the presidential race would be thrown wide open with Humphrey as the new front runner. Both men have predicted the California winner will capture the nomination.

Besides the presidential primaries, voters in Montana and Mississippi are choosing candidates for state and congressional posts. Sens. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., James O. Eastland, D-Miss., and Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., are all expected to win re-election.

After today's four presidential primaries only one will remain—in New York, which will elect 238 of its 278 delegates on (Continued on Page 2)

See Muskie Delegates Switching

WASHINGTON (AP) — George S. McGovern has pushed his nationwide total of delegates to the Democratic National Convention to 537½.

And as the South Dakota senator waited today for the outcome of the California primary with its 271 delegate votes at stake, the prospect was that victory would bring him delegates committed to Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine.

The 62 Illinois delegates committed to Muskie may switch if McGovern wins decisively in California, Angelo Geocaris, Muskie's Illinois chairman, said Monday.

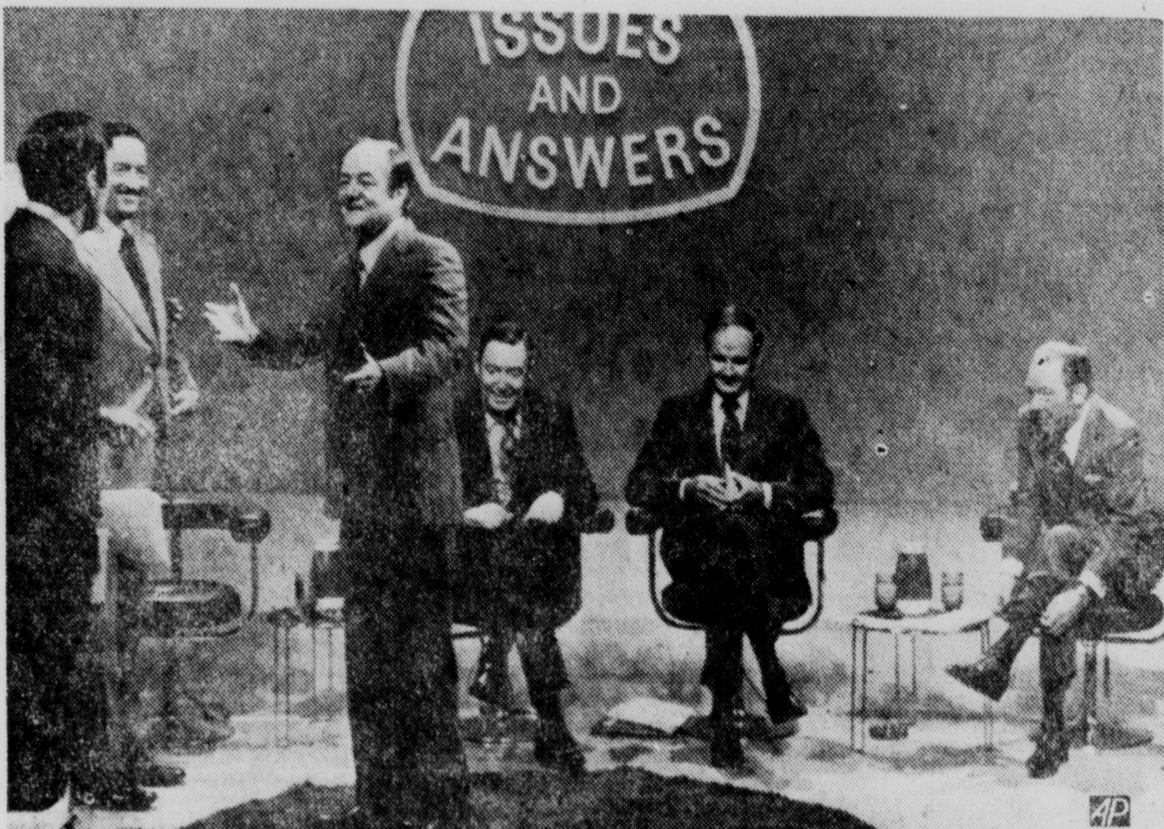

Sources said the switch could occur even if Muskie asks the delegates to stand firm.

McGovern added delegates over the weekend in Oklahoma, Kentucky, Connecticut, Colorado and Illinois in caucuses and conventions, plus a couple in the official Nebraska caucus.

Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama stands second in the delegate count going into the July 10 convention with a total of 318.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota is third in the count with 299½. Muskie has 166 and there are 449½ uncommitted delegates.

It will take 1,509 delegate votes to capture the nomination for president at the Miami convention.

22 Democratic Governors Meet With Sen. McGovern

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — In a bid for party unity, presidential front runner George McGovern met with Democratic governors early today and said his campaign will be one of cooperation and reconciliation rather than divisiveness.

The South Dakota senator altered his campaign schedule and flew into this sprawling Southeast Texas city late Monday night for a meeting with the Democratic governors, most of whom have remained neutral or opposed to McGovern's candidacy.

When the meeting was over, most of the Southern chief executives were still voicing doubts or opposition to McGovern, claiming his candidacy would assure Southern strength for President Nixon and other GOP office-seekers in November.

But McGovern, whose liberal views on several issues have been an issue among Democratic governors attending the annual bipartisan National Governors' Conference here, apparently did not hurt his cause by showing up.

"I think it was good that he came," Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter said in an interview. "The best point was just the fact that he left California and came here. It showed he was concerned."

But Carter, generally identified as the leader of the anti-McGovern forces among the Democratic governors, said, "I really can't say that my attitude toward him has changed."

McGovern, in a closed meeting with 22 Democratic governors, promised to oppose "frivolous" challenges to convention delegates by his supporters. He said he would not rule out the possibility of naming a Southerner as his vice presidential runningmate should he win the presidential nomination.

He named Gov. Reubin Askew of Florida during the closed meeting. In a subsequent news conference he said Rep. Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas also would be a possibility.

Carter, a critic of McGovern's proposed 40 percent cut in the U.S. defense budget, said he was interested in the senator's view that the country would actually be stronger under his spending plan because waste in unnecessary defense programs would be eliminated.

But despite McGovern's appraisal of the meeting and favorable comments from some anti-McGovern Northern governors, the South Dakotan still faced solid opposition from some Democratic governors.

Gov. Wendell Ford of Kentucky said, "I don't see that we can come close to electing him... in Kentucky. He didn't change anybody's mind."

Gov. Robert W. Scott of North Carolina said, "Many governors had their own views when they went in there and McGovern didn't change them particularly."

Humphrey was scheduled to meet with Democratic governors here Wednesday, the last day of the conference, and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine was reported considering making an appearance.

Nixon Back At Work In White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon dispatched Treasury Secretary John B. Connally off on a round-the-world mission today then went back to work at the White House.

The chief executive came home Monday after a rainy three-day Florida vacation which in turn had followed the Soviet summit trip and a report to Congress on his historic arms limitation agreements with the Russians.

Nixon looked more rested than when he traveled to Florida Friday afternoon, but told reporters he could have used more time off.

It was disclosed in Florida that the President will not make any more foreign trips for the remainder of this election year.

While he planned to stay at home, however, the President sent Connally off on a month-long trip starting in South America. In all, Connally will talk to leaders of 15 countries in the Far East, South Asia and Europe, as well as South America, about international economic and political problems.

And on Friday, national security adviser Henry Kissinger will depart for a three-day visit to Japan to meet with top leaders there.

U.S. Judge Delays Memphis Busing

CINCINNATI (AP) — The 6th U.S. Court of Appeals Monday delayed a school busing order to achieve racial integration in Memphis, Tenn., and heard arguments to set aside a similar order at Pontiac, Mich., in a continuing series of busing cases.

Last week, the court upheld a Nashville, Tenn., district court order directing implementation of a busing plan for Metropolitan Nashville students.

The appellate court Monday delayed a busing plan ordered by U.S. District Court Judge Robert McRae Jr. of Memphis. The Memphis Board of Education had lost an appeal to McRae last month for a stay of an order requiring busing for the first time next fall.

Litigation on the Memphis plan has been in the courts since 1964 when junior and senior high schools were ordered desegregated in 1965 and 1966 respectively. In 1970, the appeals court denied a request by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People for an injunction to halt alleged segregation practices in the Memphis schools.

The case was remanded to Judge McRae who had ordered the Memphis School Board to file a plan for operation of public schools.

The judge ordered a busing plan implemented, but noted the system had not bused any children previously. The school board said it hoped to avoid buying buses prior to the appeals court's ruling.

In the Pontiac, Mich., case, the National Action Group, an antibusing organization, filed suit against the school board saying a busing plan there was not the proper remedy to Detroit District Judge Damon Keith's finding that city schools were segregated.

Keith's dismissal of the latest suit led to the current appeal. Judge Keith had ordered busing to remedy the segregation. His earlier decision was affirmed by the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals and the U.S. Supreme Court.

Laird Asks Development Of More Arms

Tells Congress Strength Vital To Further Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird says Congress can safely approve the Moscow arms-limitation negotiations only if the United States continues weapons development and modernization.

"If we stand still, this would be a grave mistake," Laird told two congressional committees Monday.

"This is an interim freeze on numbers only," the secretary said, adding that limits on weapons modernization and development are possible in the followup negotiations expected to continue through the next five years.

"The way to succeed in the negotiations is to be strong when you enter them," Laird said.

Laird testified Monday before Appropriations committees of the House and Senate and planned closed sessions today with the two Armed Services panels.

As the negotiations continue, he said, development of such weapons as the B1 bomber, Trident submarine and site defenses for Minuteman missile launchers must not stop.

Laird said the only budget savings from the arms-limitation agreement will be from un-built defensive antiballistic missiles—ABMs—a total of about $5 billion over the next five years.

While the offensive-arms agreement freezes Russia with 1,618 ICBMs—long-range missiles—against 1,054 for the United States and with more Soviet than American submarines and submarine missile launchers, the United States retains technical superiority in deployment, Laird said.

Laird asked Congress Monday to increase a limitation on expenditures for military assistance for American allies in Southeast Asia from $2.5 billion to $2.7 billion for the current fiscal year ending June 30.

He said the month-old North Vietnamese offensive will cost the United States an extra $3.3 billion if continued through September and $5 billion through December to keep up air and naval operations.

68 Miners Feared Dead

Disaster Called Rhodesia's Worst

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — A total of 468 coal miners are feared dead in the worst mining disaster in Rhodesia's history, a spokesman for the Wankie Colliery said today.

A major underground explosion occurred this morning at the mine about 200 miles north of Bulawayo, the spokesman said.

He said 435 Africans and 33 whites were underground in the mine at the time, and there was no indication of any survivors.

Rescuers were hampered by gas and by damage to the ventilation system.

The world's worst mining disaster occurred in Manchuria in 1942, when 1,549 workers were killed in the Honkeiko Colliery. The worst in the United States was on Dec. 6, 1907, when 361 died at Monongah, W. Va.

A spokesman at the Wankie Mine Hospital said only four miners had been admitted with injuries. They were four surface workers injured as a result of the underground explosion. The spokesman could not describe their injuries or say how they were caused.

There was no explanation of what caused the blast.

The Wankie Colliery, owned by the giant Anglo-American Group, produces about 3½ million tons of coal a year. It supplies all Rhodesia's coal needs.

Coast Guard Wary Of Ohio River Traffic

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—The U.S. Coast Guard is concerned about Ohio River barge traffic in heavily populated areas, especially cargoes of potentially dangerous chemicals.

"A major problem is the volume carried," Cmdr. Bobby Burns of the Coast Guard's Huntington District says. He points out that Huntington, which sees 15,000 to 18,000 barges passing each year, is the nation's busiest inland port. And traffic on the river will increase, he says, since shipping material by river costs about 25 percent what it does to move a shipment by rail.

Navigational aspects of the long-delayed Huntington East End Bridge were approved months ago after a planned pier in the middle of the Ohio was moved to provide for a 900-foot main channel under the span.

"There's more danger in the loading of certain fuels and chemicals than in their transportation," Burns said, explaining that during loading the potentially combustible materials are more likely to be exposed to oxygen.

"This wouldn't be a problem in cities like Wheeling or Huntington," he added, "where little loading is done but is something we have to watch in Charleston and the oil refineries of Ashland (Ky.) and Ironton (Ohio)."

A recent investigation by a Parkersburg radio station turned up a series of minor infractions of river safety regulations, including the lack of surveillance of flammable materials on barges docked near the city. Burns said the Coast Guard is investigating the apparent violations.

"We'll always have accidents on the rivers," Burns said, "but we must continue to safeguard against major catastrophes."

Was public awareness of potential dangers heightened by the Parkersburg blast?

"Not really," Burns replied. "People don't take much interest in things like that. A few days after any incident, they've forgotten about it again."

included offering contracts for teachers, non-certificated personnel and additional increments.

Detention Center Funding OK'd By Commissioners — If

Pickaway County Commissioners Monday approved a resolution of intent to meet its financial obligation in the proposed multi-county juvenile detention center to be built in Ross County with federal and local funds.

The commissioners attached a condition to the resolution — that they would participate only if the county has the $53,611.80 (22 per cent of the local costs) available.

Counties participating in the study for construction of a juvenile detention center are Pickaway, Ross, Pike and Scioto.

The contract for paying an access road to the Pickaway County Memorial Airport was awarded to George W. Van Camp Co., Circleville. Their bid was $25,915.80. Other bids submitted were $31,730.63 by G. W. Melvin Contracting Co., Columbus, and $28,593.10 by V. & Y Construction Inc. The engineer's estimate for the job was $31,898.30.

A 1972 model Buick was purchased for the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department. The lone bid for the vehicle was submitted by Yates Motor Co. and was for $4,590 plus trade of the 1968 Buick. Commissioners announced

Welfare Bill Drops Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's welfare costs dipped in January for the fifth time in six months, although 60,000 more persons joined relief rolls, according to government figures released today.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare said unpredictably lower costs for providing medical care to the poor resulted in the $12.4-million decrease from the previous month.

Cash payments in January rose nearly $1.7 million for a total monthly welfare bill of $1.54 billion.

Previous monthly welfare-cost decreases of $15 million in August, $10 million in September, $19 million in November and $13 million in December were more than offset, however, by a $100-million hike in October.

Welfare rolls were expanded in January, latest month for which figures are available, by addition of 43,000 persons receiving aid to families with dependent children—AFDC—11,000 in the disabled category and another 11,000 receiving nonfederal general assistance.

The expanding AFDC program also came in for review on Capitol Hill Monday when the Senate Finance Committee tentatively adopted a new federal-state financing plan with emphasis on keeping down the number of AFDC recipients.

When combined with changes in three adult welfare programs—the aged, blind and disabled—the plan would save the states $5 billion through 1974, said committee Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La.

McGovern

June 20. McGovern, virtually unopposed in more than one dozen New York congressional districts, expects to win at least 200 delegates there.

As two weeks of hectic California campaigning wound down Monday, McGovern made final stops in Los Angeles and San Diego before flying to Albuquerque and Houston.

He described a two-hour mid-night meeting with 22 Democratic governors in Houston as "enormously beneficial." He said he compromised none of his stands on controversial issues but promised to oppose "frivolous" challenges to delegates at the party's national convention.

Humphrey, meanwhile, covering California from Oakland to Los Angeles to San Diego, assailed McGovern's decision to go to New Mexico and Texas.

"I think he should be here in California and not take these voters for granted," the Minnesota senator said.

Referring to the inability of the two camps to work out arrangements for a fourth televised debate, Humphrey said, "If he wants to take a powder, that's all right. But I wanted to talk to him about some things."

He said his own polls show his support coming up and received a last-day boost when Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty, one of the eight Democrats on the California ballot, urged his backers to vote for Humphrey. Polls show Yorty with about 1 per cent.

Republicans are also holding presidential primaries in the four states today. The only question is how many California Republicans will back conservative Rep. John M. Ashbrook of Ohio, who is challenging President Nixon in the California GOP primary.

Court Hears Support Case

Elmer L. Butterbaugh, Columbus, was bound to the grand jury for two counts of non-support Monday in Municipal Court.

On the first charge, stemming from his arrest in 1969, Butterbaugh was bound to the grand jury under $500 bond.

On the second charge, he was bound to the jury under $1500 bond.

In other court cases, Juanita Johnson Wright, 45, 124 S. Scioto St., was fined $150 and costs, sentenced to 30 days in the Pickaway County Jail and lost her driver's license for 6 months after being declared guilty of driving while intoxicated.

Jack Framer, 30, Chillicothe, was fined $150 and costs, sentenced to 30 days in jail and lost his driver's license for 6 months for driving while intoxicated.

Andrew M. Allbritton, Route 2, was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in the county jail for possession of marijuana.

Traveling Companions

Americans planning to travel abroad this summer cannot be warned too often to watch their steps after they leave these shores. Before the summer is over hundreds of them will have reason to regret their carelessness.

The welcome mat may be out for the American tourist as always, but the days of 20 years ago, or so when he was so much in demand he was regarded as almost above the local laws are over. That is particularly true of the young Americans who each summer flood foreign cities. An uncomfortable number will remain behind when the season is ended — in jail.

Whatever the young people may think of U.S. laws on such matters as drugs, they will find the laws in other countries almost unanimously stiffer. More than 990 young Americans now are in foreign jails, and their plight is not pleasant.

Some of them have been sentenced up to 15 years for possession of the smallest quantities of illicit drugs. They wait out their sentences in some of the filthiest jails to be found, with little concern for their health and safety by their keepers.

It is not a pretty picture, which is why more young Americans should be made aware of the hazards of the carefree life abroad. Consular officials will try to help them if they do get in trouble, but they are powerless against local laws. Caution and common sense are the best companions a traveler can take with him.

Testing Perfection

Scientists at the Marshall Space Flight Center have come up with a method for testing a part of Einstein's theory of relativity. All they have to do is put a clock in orbit and assure themselves it is keeping perfect time.

The orbiting is the easy part. Launching has been set for late 1974. Finding an accurate timepiece is only slightly more difficult. One being put together by the Smithsonian Institution, a hydrogen maser clock, is said to be so accurate it varies only a few parts in one quadrillion.

To be tested is Einstein's theory that two identical objects operating in different gravitational fields will show differing rates because of gravity's effect on the geometry of space and time. The perfect clock will be a success, that is, if it doesn't keep time.

McGovern Wins

By JEFFERY HART

Hubert Humphrey reportedly has been counting on a smashing victory over George McGovern in the TV debates in order to turn the tide in California. After watching the first one, you have to say tough luck, Hubert.

Sen. Humphrey has the issues. Sen. McGovern's proposals on defense spending are completely unrealistic. Just to begin with, he could not possibly honor our NATO commitments with the cuts in carrier strength he has proposed. Humphrey is also correct in his assertion that McGovern's welfare proposals would be frightfully expensive, and that the burden of the whole scheme would be borne by the American middle class.

But McGovern won esthetically. He won in the sense that most TV viewers will say, as between the two of them, that I like McGovern better.

Why? First of all, in his tactics, Humphrey moved over the line between tough debating and demagoguery. McGovern's welfare proposals are bad enough. Giving $1,000 to everyone in the country over the age of zero would cost, most experts think, 40 to 45 billion dollars. McGovern has no hope of raising that sum. But Humphrey could not leave it at that. He had to resurrect an old bill McGovern introduced into the Senate agenda, sponsored by the Welfare Rights Association, but specifically not supported by McGovern. Price tag on that one: $72 billion. But McGovern disavowed it. Humphrey would have been on better ground attacking McGovern's own plan. The tactic made him seem like Tricky Hubie.

On defense Humphrey is probably sound, but the trouble is he has talked too much, and he has the fatal flaw of trying to please everyone he is talking to. McGovern was able to show that Humphrey the rhetorician was in a moment of lightheadedness able to propose even more drastic slashes in the defense budget than McGovern has put forth.

But all that, looking at the two men on the TV screen, is rather ho-hum. McGovern, visually, came off the larger and more powerful man, and also the more contemporaneous one.

About that last point, a little analysis. One of the salient psychic facts in America during the last generation has been the separation between self and role. A man may be a clerk, a filling station operator or a professor. That is his role. But, in America today, he is likely to have enough money, and therefore to be free enough, not to take his role with 100 per cent seriousness. The clerk is also a water-skier. The filling station operator is a local golf champion. They may do their jobs very well, but stylistically they develop a certain detachment. This can be expressed as irony, or in some other way. But what they are saying is that I am more, larger than my role.

McGovern expresses that emotion. Yes, he is a candidate for the Presidency, and a serious one. He has also done his job well, building an organization and so on. But he is not grim. He can say, "Come on Hubert . . ." or the equivalent.

Humphrey, in contrast, needs the job too badly. He tries to make those tedious debater's points, even when he is right. He even tries to hit a bit below the belt, as when he accuses McGovern of being weak in the defense of Israel. You do not get the sense that Humphrey is a bigger and more various individual than the particular role he is playing.

Humphrey, all too clearly, is desperately applying for the job. McGovern wants it, and badly, but not as badly that he submerges himself in the application. He is therefore much more appealing to the average American in 1972. Look out, Richard Nixon.

American Bombers Causing Problems To Hanoi Economy

HONG KONG (AP) — North Vietnam admitted Monday that it is having "very difficult" economic problems because of the intensified U.S. bombing but insisted that it had the capacity to continue its war efforts.

"Even if the enemy succeeds in the bomb destruction of our cities and our large industrial installations, they can never paralyze our economy to the point of preventing our survival and our ability to supply the South," the official newspaper Nhan Dan declared in a commentary broadcast by Radio Hanoi.

The broadcast warned the North Vietnamese, however, that they must make "utmost efforts in organization of resources and maintaining our transportation and communications" despite the damage from the U.S. bombers.

by LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

After a heart attack, I was told to stop smoking. Although I have never been a drinker, I have taken to having one drink before lunch and one before dinner. My wife thinks that this is harmful. What do you think?

Mr. A.B.R., RI

The wisest thing you might have done, of course, is to have given up smoking absolutely and completely. There is no doubt, scientifically, about the extra hazards of tobacco in people who have had a coronary heart attack.

About alcohol. There was a time when small quantities were actually thought to be beneficial. In fact, many physicians for many years have recommended small amounts of alcohol with the idea that the blood vessels to the heart and the rest of the body would be diluted by the alcohol.

This universally accepted idea has just been denied by a group of heart specialists. Dr. Lawrence Gould of the Albert Einstein College of Medicine and his colleagues believe that even small doses of alcohol can be harmful to cardiac patients. Since this idea is such a radical departure from that which was formerly believed, I suggest you discontinue alcohol until you discuss this thoroughly with your own physician.

My son plays in a rock group. Whenever he comes home from one of their jam sessions, he can hardly speak. His hoarseness lasts for about four days. Can this be permanently harmful?

Mrs. G.P., Ga.

Not very long ago, I answered a question about the relationship between loud music and hearing. I pointed out that the delicate ear mechanism has some protective devices against the bombardment of sound. Apparently I did not emphasize sufficiently that despite the wonders of the ear, harmful changes can occur if one is exposed to the constant avalanche of high-decibel sounds in music.

The larynx, or voice box, houses the vocal cords. When singing or screaming above the high concentration of sound, damage to the vocal cords can occur. Since it is necessary to sing above the loud sounds of the instruments in such jam sessions, injury can easily result.

Such vocal abuse can cause small hemorrhages in the vocal cords, accompanied by swelling and hoarseness. Unless there is some respect for the larynx, polyps and vocal nodules are inevitable. I don't understand why these youngsters pay so little attention to the valuable possession of a good singing voice.

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that a man who doesn't drive an automobile gets tired of hearing:

"Is it true what they say about you, Henry? I didn't know there was anybody left alive who didn't know how to drive an automobile."

"I'll bet he doesn't know how to harness a horse either."

"Henry must just be an exhibitionist. He figures not being able to drive a car will draw more attention to him."

"In extending credit, our organization depends generally on the individual's driver's license as proof of identity. It is very odd that you can't produce a driver's license."

"Why can't you drive a car, Henry? Were you scared by an Erector set when you were a child?"

"They say the typical American gets his chief ego satisfaction out of life manipulating the wheel of a big, powerful automobile. How do you get your ego satisfaction, Henry—watching birds or playing the zither?"

"No, I don't think there's anything really abnormal about Henry. My opinion is that he's simply too cheap to buy a car. What other explanation could there be?"

"I'm tired of hearing about what you can't do, Henry. Tell me, is there anything interesting that you ARE able to do?"

"Henry is totally useless in an automobile. Since he doesn't drive at all, he is no help to you if you get lost. He doesn't pay any attention to road signs or landmarks."

"The only time Henry is any help is when you run out of gas. You can always hand him a can and tell him to hike to a filling station for more."

"Henry, you spend about a third as much time in my car as I do. Why don't you volunteer to pay a third of the installments on it?"

"Henry is so dumb about cars that he always compliments me on my driving when I give him a ride. The poor dear doesn't know I'm the worst driver in town and that his life is in constant danger whenever he gets in the front seat with me."

WASHINGTON MEMO

By Congressman CHALMERS P. WYLIE

President Nixon has just concluded his negotiations with the leadership of Soviet Russia, the second phase of his historic diplomatic ventures to the world's major communist powers. On Thursday evening he addressed a special joint session of Congress to comment on this trip. Like the China visit, the President and his party were cordially received in the Soviet Union and the discussions proceeded in an atmosphere of a mutual desire to achieve constructive results. In view of the past political realities of the cold war era, the agreements reached were hopefully a beginning step toward a real relaxation of international tension and the always attendant threat of nuclear war between the world's super powers.

The results are indeed significant. The deployment of anti-ballistic missile systems will now be limited to two sites and 200 missiles for each country. A quantitative limit on strategic nuclear weapons systems launchers were also reached. In a few years American and Russian astronauts will participate in a joint space venture employing spaces hardware designed and produced by both nations. There will be increased cooperation in scientific endeavors, and in efforts to control world wide environmental pollution problems. Throughout the talks and in the final documents the theme was repeatedly stressed that this was only the beginning of further mutual cooperation, and that additional areas of concern will be expanded and explored.

What the end result of these efforts will be is obviously at this point in time only subject to speculation. Nonetheless, these may be signs that a new period of reasoned, responsible maturity in international affairs is merging.

Greece, China To Open Diplomatic Relations

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China announced it has agreed to establish diplomatic relations with Greece.

Peking's official New China News Agency said the governments of China and Greece have decided to recognize each other and establish diplomatic relations "in accordance with the principles of mutual respect for sovereignty and territorial integrity, noninterference in each other's internal affairs and quality and mutual benefit."

I pointed out that the delicate ear mechanism has some protective devices against the bombardment of sound. Apparently I did not emphasize sufficiently that despite the wonders of the ear, harmful changes can occur if one is exposed to the constant avalanche of high-decibel sounds in music.

The larynx, or voice box, houses the vocal cords. When singing or screaming above the high concentration of sound, damage to the vocal cords can occur. Since it is necessary to sing above the loud sounds of the instruments in such jam sessions, injury can easily result.

Such vocal abuse can cause small hemorrhages in the vocal cords, accompanied by swelling and hoarseness. Unless there is some respect for the larynx, polyps and vocal nodules are inevitable. I don't understand why these youngsters pay so little attention to the valuable possession of a good singing voice.

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that a man who doesn't drive an automobile gets tired of hearing:

"Is it true what they say about you, Henry? I didn't know there was anybody left alive who didn't know how to drive an automobile."

"I'll bet he doesn't know how to harness a horse either."

"Henry must just be an exhibitionist. He figures not being able to drive a car will draw more attention to him."

"In extending credit, our organization depends generally on the individual's driver's license as proof of identity. It is very odd that you can't produce a driver's license."

"Why can't you drive a car, Henry? Were you scared by an Erector set when you were a child?"

"They say the typical American gets his chief ego satisfaction out of life manipulating the wheel of a big, powerful automobile. How do you get your ego satisfaction, Henry—watching birds or playing the zither?"

"No, I don't think there's anything really abnormal about Henry. My opinion is that he's simply too cheap to buy a car. What other explanation could there be?"

"I'm tired of hearing about what you can't do, Henry. Tell me, is there anything interesting that you ARE able to do?"

"Henry is totally useless in an automobile. Since he doesn't drive at all, he is no help to you if you get lost. He doesn't pay any attention to road signs or landmarks."

"The only time Henry is any help is when you run out of gas. You can always hand him a can and tell him to hike to a filling station for more."

"Henry, you spend about a third as much time in my car as I do. Why don't you volunteer to pay a third of the installments on it?"

"Henry is so dumb about cars that he always compliments me on my driving when I give him a ride. The poor dear doesn't know I'm the worst driver in town and that his life is in constant danger whenever he gets in the front seat with me."

WASHINGTON MEMO

By Congressman CHALMERS P. WYLIE
15th District of Ohio

President Nixon has just concluded his negotiations with the leadership of Soviet Russia, the second phase of his historic diplomatic ventures to the world's major communist powers. On Thursday evening he addressed a special joint session of Congress to comment on this trip. Like the China visit, the President and his party were cordially received in the Soviet Union and the discussions proceeded in an atmosphere of a mutual desire to achieve constructive results. In view of the past political realities of the cold war era, the agreements reached were hopefully a beginning step toward a real relaxation of international tension and the always attendant threat of nuclear war between the world's super powers.

The results are indeed significant. The deployment of anti-ballistic missile systems will now be limited to two sites and 200 missiles for each country. A quantitative limit on strategic nuclear weapons systems launchers were also reached. In a few years American and Russian astronauts will participate in a joint space venture employing spaces hardware designed and produced by both nations. There will be increased cooperation in scientific endeavors, and in efforts to control world wide environmental pollution problems. Throughout the talks and in the final documents the theme was repeatedly stressed that this was only the beginning of further mutual cooperation, and that additional areas of concern will be expanded and explored.

What the end result of these efforts will be is obviously at this point in time only subject to speculation. Nonetheless, these may be signs that a new period of reasoned, responsible maturity in international affairs is merging.

Greece, China To Open Diplomatic Relations

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China announced it has agreed to establish diplomatic relations with Greece.

Peking's official New China News Agency said the governments of China and Greece have decided to recognize each other and establish diplomatic relations "in accordance with the principles of mutual respect for sovereignty and territorial integrity, noninterference in each other's internal affairs and quality and mutual benefit."

Terrazzo floors, as old as ancient Rome, are today's newest look in floors.

After the Monday recess for Memorial Day the House began the legislative week on Tuesday by passing amendments to the Subversive Activities Control Act of 1950. The bill would change the name of the Subversive Activities Control Board to the Federal Internal Security Board and provide the President with authority to expand the Board's present duties by having it hold hearings on the character of political organizations related to the loyalty of federal employees. A Presidential executive order last year defined what activities and associations might warrant placing an organization on the Attorney General's subversive list but the bill eliminates these requirements and allows the investigation of any organization the President might deem "relevant."

This bill is part of the government's ongoing program to protect the national security against subversive organizations while at the same time protecting the individual rights guaranteed to all citizens under the First Amendment to the Constitution. This measure is a reasoned and responsible approach which will allow an updating of the Attorney General's list of subversive organizations and correct present weaknesses in the Federal Employee Loyalty-Security Program.

Ten years ago the Congress enacted the Educational Television Facilities Act of 1962 to provide matching grants to establish and expand non-commercial educational television broadcasting stations. From its modest beginnings the public television network has expanded its format until today it carries such acclaimed programs as Sesame Street, The Advocates, Hollywood Television Theater, Firing Line, Black Journal, and Masterpiece Theater. It is estimated that this network has a regular audience of approximately 39 million viewers a week.

On Wednesday and Thursday the House debated and passed legislation authorizing appropriations to fund non-commercial educational broadcasting for fiscal year 1973. The measure also included a number of provisions to improve the administration of this program and reduce the salaries of certain executives of the Corporation for Public Broadcasting.

In the past several years government officials, scientists and the public have become increasingly concerned about the dangers posed by certain poisonous industrial chemicals. The press has been full of articles concerning the dangerous environmental effects of mercury, lead, PCBs and Phosphates to mention a few.

When all of these chemicals were put on the market, they served obvious useful functions and none of the adverse environmental side effects were foreseen. To prevent similar chemical disasters in the future, the Nixon Administration has been trying to find a practical method to pre-screen new chemical compounds before they are introduced into the marketplace. A bill passed by unanimous vote in the Senate on Tuesday would provide the necessary tools.

Pentagon To Investigate Defense Satellite System

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Defense Department has decided to study the feasibility of a killer satellite system capable of intercepting, inspecting and destroying hostile space vehicles. The Soviet Union already has demonstrated this capability.

The Air Force space and missile systems organization in Los Angeles asked industry on May 26 to submit proposals on the system. At least three companies are expected to be selected to conduct competitive studies.

If defense officials decide on the basis of the studies to develop a satellite destroyer, it is believed subsystem testing could start next year, aiming for a test launch in 1975 or 1976. If interceptor satellites are built, they would be able to fly alongside an alien spacecraft, determine its assignment and, if necessary, disable or destroy it.

Destruction could be effected by some sort of a "death ray," perhaps a laser beam; by signals that would disrupt the payload's electronics, or by blowing up the American satellite, destroying both payloads.

Satellite explosion is the technique used by the Russians. Since 1968, the Soviets have successfully demonstrated their spacecraft killer system at least seven times, according to U.S. sources.

These sources say the successful test involved 12 separate launches of Cosmos satellite. Five were target satellites and seven were pursuit payloads that flew near their quarry. After an inspection, five of the interceptors blew apart on radio signal from the ground.

When President Nixon and Soviet Communist party leader Leonid Brezhnev signed the nuclear arms limitation treaty last month, they said on-site inspection was not necessary, that spy satellites could do the job.

The Soviet Union has an operational space weapon the United States does not possess—the fractional orbital bombardment system (FOBS). In several tests in recent years the Soviets have demonstrated that a FOBS rocket is capable of hurling a nuclear bomb into a low earth orbit and that it can be called in on an earth target in less than one global pass.

But if it were used, the act would be a violation of a U.N. treaty prohibiting the placing of nuclear weapons in space.

Building Vacated After Earthslide

CINCINNATI (AP) — An earthslide one official called the largest in Cincinnati in 20 years has forced evacuation of units of an apartment building.

The slide began about 3:30 a.m. Monday behind the Clifton South apartment building. Officials estimated about 30,000 cubic yards of earth ripped loose.

The slide area had dropped by about 30 feet by Monday night, James Jester, assistant superintendent of the city's Division of Highway Maintenance, said he couldn't recall a heavier slide in the city.

GIs Ordered To Trim Fat

WASHINGTON (AP) — The old adage about an army traveling on its stomach apparently has fallen into disfavor with Gen. William C. Westmoreland. He has ordered his troops to literally trim the fat from the ranks.

U.S. Army commanders around the world were told in no uncertain terms last week to make frequent checks of every one in their units to find those "who are becoming obese, and commence corrective action."

The new regulations issued by Westmoreland, the Army chief of staff, could lead to eventual dismissal or early retirement for overweight GIs—and Army women—who fail to shed the extra pounds. A spokesman said there has been no change in the Army's standards, just a new emphasis "reflecting concern for the health and welfare of the military population and the need to maintain a reasonably fit army."

No one will be tossed out of the service just for being overweight. But the regulations say that "insincere, sporadic, or evasive performance in weight-reduction or physical-fitness programs may provide substantial evidence of conditions justifying separation for unsuitability."

Taft Panel Investigates Pensions

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A Senate Labor subcommittee headed by U.S. Sen. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, opened a series of national hearings on private pension plans here Monday and heard of numerous abuses in such plans.

William Wheeler, 64, who retired last year after 42 years with Gar Wood Division of Sargent Industries in Findlay, said he got a $134 pension for two months and then received a letter from his employer telling him there would be a "slight" reduction in his benefits.

Wheeler said his next monthly check was $46.02, a 62 percent drop. He said he cannot understand why he lost the benefits he thought he accumulated. He said he never received an explanation on why his pension was cut but Gar Wood is now out of business.

Frank Crump, 76, and William Robinson, 73, retired employees of Columbus Malleable Corp., which closed in 1969, reported similar cuts.

Crump received $76 monthly when he retired, but when the company shut down, was given a lump sum payment of less than $500. The amount was equal to about six months of benefits. Crump had worked for the firm for 46 years.

Robinson, with 35 years service, received a pension of $67.50 a month and got a lump sum payment of $496. He said he does owe more than $25,000 for his wife's hospital bills and sees no way of paying them.

Resort Operators To Federal Court

CINCINNATI (AP)—Operators of Hidden Valley Lake, a resort development near Aurora, Ind., have been named defendants in a class action suit charging them with violating the federal Truth in Lending Act.

The action, filed by Robert W. and Erlene W. Schenck, of Dayton, charged that the firm's contract with them failed to specify that they could back out of a contract to purchase a land parcel for $12,000 three days after the contract was signed.

Folk Mass To Be Sung At RFK Grave

WASHINGTON (AP)—Robert Francis Kennedy will be remembered today with a folk mass of hope and peace at his gravesite in Arlington National Cemetery.

Lassiter Passes On Extradition

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Albert F. Lassiter, retired Air Force brigadier general, has waived extradition to Pennsylvania on charges of illegally diverting $21 million from the bankrupt Penn Central Railroad.

Lassiter said after a Municipal Court hearing Monday that he will return to Philadelphia later this month.

Lassiter and two others were accused in criminal complaints Jan. 4 of arranging a $21 million investment in Executive Jet Aviation Inc. of Columbus, Ohio, by the railroad in violation of Civil Aeronautics Board regulations. Executive Jet is a charter airline that was formerly headed by Lassiter.

Some 15,000 people did their remembering Monday, the anniversary of the day in 1963 when he was shot down by an assassin, by climbing the grassy hillside to the grave across the Potomac from the federal city.

It was June 5 four years ago, in another presidential election year, that the New York senator was shot shortly after he was declared winner of California's presidential primary. He died the next day, June 6.

Themes of peace and hope will be reflected in the morning folk mass, the first mass to be held at the new gravesite. Finished six months ago, the site is marked with a simple white wooden cross, a shallow reflecting pool, a terrace of granite stones and a selection of Kennedy's favorite quotations etched into a marble ledge.

The mass will be led by Albert F. Peria, pastor of St. Luke's Roman Catholic Church in McLean, the Virginia suburb where the senator's widow and children live. Guitar playing and folk-singing will highlight the hour-long ceremony.

Spokesmen for the family said that Ethel Kennedy and all the Kennedy children were expected. It has been reported that Jacqueline Onassis, widow of President Kennedy, will also be present.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Hairdressers Offer Tips On Tipping

DEAR ABBY: I never thought the day would come when something in your column would provoke me enough to write to you but "Perturbed" who claims that in some small towns hairdressers make as much as $100 a day, so why tip, certainly got my back.

I have been a hairdresser in Massachusetts and Florida for 12 years and I have yet to find such a place. I've worked in some of the best shops and I was lucky to make ends meet. After working 5½ days, my gross pay was $50 for the week. So you see where I would be without tips from my customers.

We hairdressers pay a lot for our training, and today we make less than a girl who has just graduated from high school and takes a secretarial job.

J.P., PLYMOUTH MASS.
DEAR ABBY: You can tell your hairdresser, Cloyd, that he can move to Duncan, Okla. There are seven beauticians in the shop I go to and they all make at least $90 a day, and $100 on Fridays, and Saturdays. And this town has a population of only 25,000.

REGULAR PATRON
DEAR PATRON: I gave Cloyd your message, and he says the hairdresser who takes in that money MUST have a very lucrative sideline.

DEAR ABBY: Tell "PERTURBED," who doesn't think beauticians need tips to come off it. There are some jobs that wouldn't be worth a plug nickel without the tips. Waiting on tables is one, and hairdressing is another.

BEEN BOTH
DEAR ABBY: I have been a hairdresser for 18 years, and only once did I come close to making $100 in one day. And that included my tips!

"PERTURBED" is DisTurbed ROSE

DEAR ABBY: I would like to know what that beauty operator who told "PERTURBED" she made $109 a day was smoking. She must have meant $100 a WEEK! NOT HACKING IT IN HACKENSACK

DEAR ABBY: After reading the letter from "PERTURBED" who says beauty operators don't need "tips" because they make so much money, I had to write:

I wish "PERTURBED" could be a hairdresser for just eight hours. She'd find out what it's like to keep on schedule with clients calling and begging to be worked in on a Friday afternoon. Also, try to be pleasant to a different person every 29 minutes when your feet half dead.

No beauty operator I ever knew could cut the mustard without tips. I don't care where she works.

BOILING OVER IN BALTIMORE

DEAR ABBY: I am a beauty operator who wants to tell you how I feel about tipping.

In our profession, tips are appropriate but should not be expected. I get tips, which I appreciate, but if I couldn't make it without tips, I'd find something else to do for a living. After all, a tip is something extra given because the customer feels generous, and it's never a sure thing.

Please print this in defense of the hairdresser who wants their patrons to know that we appreciate their patronage whether they feel like tipping or not. There are three operators where I work and they all agree with me.

HAPPY IN NATCHEZ, MISS.

Connolly To Leave On Round-World Trip

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connolly will leave Tuesday on a round-the-world mission to some 15 nations for President Nixon to discuss "matters of common concern" and current economic issues, the White House announced today.

Dogs provided ceremonial food for the Potawatami Indians, who sometimes consumed canine flesh at feasts in honor of the sun.

WABASH, Ind. (AP) — Rep. J. Edward Roush, D-Ind., an ecology buff, took a canoeing trip this weekend to investigate pollution of the Salamonie and Wabash rivers in northeast Indiana. However, he got a bit closer to his subject than he anticipated.

About a quarter-mile from their starting point Sunday, Roush, his aide Jim Morrison and a woman companion ran into some rapids. The canoe spilled over and the trio fell into the river about chest deep.

Rescuers helped them out of the water.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWERY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Monty Hall Smokin'-Stokin' Fire Brigade," an hour-long special on ABC Monday night, may not have made television history but it was certainly one of the busiest shows on record.

It at least demonstrated that Monty Hall isn't just a fellow who turns up every day on ABC's "Let's Make a Deal" with his pockets full of money to give to game show contestants.

The hour opened with a parade of fire engines, and with all the noise and excitement of a four-alarm blaze. Then it cut to a facsimile of a Mexican-American fiesta, complete with tacos and occasional oles and even a stuffed bull, which gave Hall a chance to dress up like a matador and stamp around in a little dance with the natives in their colorful costumes.

There were quick cuts from scene to scene, some primitive comedy by Fred Smoot, and a very cooperative attitude by Cass Elliot who, given a chance, might have been funny and even without a chance, sounded great in her musical numbers.

Hall's first musical variety special had everything from dream sequences to sight gags and it apparently was shot almost entirely on location. And it was probably all pretty wonderful fun for Monty Hall fans.

The television networks will, for the most part, start the third- or summer-season with the premiere of CBS's "Melba Moore-Clifton Davis Show," first of eight new programs which will be coming along on the three networks during the next two months.

Before the season starts, it may be appropriate to mourn briefly the passing of a few series now making their last network stands in reruns.

Glenn Ford's "Cade's County" on CBS, in particular, seems to have been the victim of tough competition—NBC's "Bonanza" and ABC's movie broadcast. A contemporary western, it had Ford's believable characterization of a calm and tired sheriff in a big, violent county, and rather believable scripts. In a better time slot, it might have returned for a second season.

Beauty Operator, 76, Earns College Degree

CHICAGO (AP) — Pearl Danzy, 76, was graduated Sunday with an associate of arts degree from Kennedy-King College, one of the City Colleges of Chicago.

Before she took up art, she and her husband, Eugene, operated a barber shop and beauty salon for 39 years.

The graduate said she had no trouble adjusting to classmates 50 years younger. She said she always wanted a college education but until recently was too busy to go to school.

A native of Sandersville, Ga., Mrs. Danzy attended a school for teachers long enough to permit her to teach in a one-room school house until 1919 when she married and moved to Chicago.

Hairdressers Offer Tips On Tipping

DEAR ABBY: I never thought the day would come when something in your column would provoke me enough to write to you but "Perturbed" who claims that in some small towns hairdressers make as much as $100 a day, so why tip, certainly got my back.

I have been a hairdresser in Massachusetts and Florida for 12 years and I have yet to find such a place. I've worked in some of the best shops and I was lucky to make ends meet. After working 5½ days, my gross pay was $50 for the week. So you see where I would be without tips from my customers.

We hairdressers pay a lot for our training, and today we make less than a girl who has just graduated from high school and takes a secretarial job.

J.P., PLYMOUTH MASS.
DEAR ABBY: You can tell your hairdresser, Cloyd, that he can move to Duncan, Okla. There are seven beauticians in the shop I go to and they all make at least $90 a day, and $100 on Fridays and Saturdays. And this town has a population of only 25,000.

REGULAR PATRON
DEAR PATRON: I gave Cloyd your message, and he says the hairdresser who takes in that money MUST have a very lucrative sideline.

DEAR ABBY: Tell "PERTURBED" who doesn't think beauticians need tips to come off it. There are some jobs that wouldn't be worth a plug nickel without the tips. Waiting on tables is one, and hairdressing is another.

BEEEN BOTH
DEAR ABBY: I have been a hairdresser for 18 years, and only once did I come close to making $100 in one day. And that included my tips!

"PERTURBED" is DisTurbed

ROSE
DEAR ABBY: I would like to know what that beauty operator who told "PERTURBED" she made $100 a day was smoking. She must have meant $100 a WEEK!

NOT HACKING IT IN

HACKENSACK
DEAR ABBY: After reading the letter from "PERTURBED" who says beauty operators don't need "tips" because they make so much money, I had to write:

I wish "PERTURBED" could be a hairdresser for just eight hours. She'd find out what it's like to keep on schedule with clients calling and begging to be worked in on a Friday afternoon. Also, try to be pleasant to a different person every 29 minutes when your feet half dead.

No beauty operator I ever knew could cut the mustard without tips. I don't care where she works.

BOILING OVER IN

DEAR ABBY: I am a beauty operator who wants to tell you how I feel about tipping.

In our profession, tips are appropriate but should not be expected. I get tips, which I appreciate, but if I couldn't make it without tips, I'd find something else to do for a living. After all, a tip is something extra given because the customer feels generous, and it's never a sure thing.

Please print this in defense of the hairdresser who wants their patrons to know that we appreciate their patronage whether they feel like tipping or not. There are three operators where I work and they all agree with me.

HAPPY IN NATCHEZ, MISS.

Connolly To Leave
On Round-World Trip

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connolly will leave Tuesday on a round-the-world mission to some 15 nations for President Nixon to discuss "matters of common concern" and current economic issues, the White House announced today.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWERY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Monty Hall Smokin'-Stokin' Fire Brigade," an hour-long special on ABC Monday night, may not have made television history but it was certainly one of the busiest shows on record.

It at least demonstrated that Monty Hall isn't just a fellow who turns up every day on ABC's "Let's Make a Deal" with his pockets full of money to give to game show contestants.

The hour opened with a parade of fire engines, and with all the noise and excitement of a four-alarm blaze. Then it cut to a facsimile of a Mexican-American fiesta, complete with tacos and occasional oles and even a stuffed bull, which gave Hall a chance to dress up like a matador and stamp around in a little dance with the natives in their colorful costumes.

There were quick cuts from scene to scene, some primitive comedy by Fred Smoot, and a very cooperative attitude by Cass Elliot who, given a chance, might have been funny and even without a chance, sounded great in her musical numbers.

Hall's first musical variety special had everything from dream sequences to sight gags and it apparently was shot almost entirely on location. And it was probably all pretty wonderful fun for Monty Hall fans.

The television networks will, for the most part, start the third—or summer—season with the premiere of CBS's "Melba Moore-Clifton Davis Show," first of eight new programs which will be coming along on the three networks during the next two months.

Before the season starts, it may be appropriate to mourn briefly the passing of a few series now making their last network stands in reruns.

Glenn Ford's "Cade's County" on CBS, in particular, seems to have been the victim of tough competition—NBC's "Bonanza" and ABC's movie broadcast. A contemporary western, it had Ford's believable characterization of a calm and tired sheriff in a big, violent county, and rather believable scripts. In a better time slot, it might have returned for a second season.

Beauty Operator, 76, Earns College Degree

CHICAGO (AP) — Pearl Danzy, 76, was graduated Sunday with an associate of arts degree from Kennedy-King College, one of the City Colleges of Chicago.

Before she took up art, she and her husband, Eugene, operated a barber shop and beauty salon for 39 years.

The graduate said she had no trouble adjusting to classmates 50 years younger. She said she always wanted a college education but until recently was too busy to go to school.

A native of Sandersville, Ga., Mrs. Danzy attended a school for teachers long enough to permit her to teach in a one-room school house until 1919 when she married and moved to Chicago.

Seek Cuts In Planned Mail Rates

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postal Rate Commission Monday called for a $78.3-million reduction in postage rates proposed by the U.S. Postal Service.

The decision, first of its kind since the Post Office Department was reorganized in 1970, called for cutbacks in the Postal Service's proposed rates for parcel post, airmail letters, ordinary post cards and items handled by second-class mail-users, primarily magazine and newspaper publishers.

The commission, acting unanimously, overruled its chief hearing examiner in recommending that airmail fares be kept at 11 cents an ounce instead of the hearing examiner's proposed 13 cents and that ordinary post cards carry only 6 cents postage instead of the Postal Service's requested seven cents.

It estimated the savings alone on ordinary post cards at $25 million.

The Postal Rate Commission let stand the current temporary eight-cents-per-ounce charge for first-class mail.

For second-class mail-users, the commission urged the service to simplify its complex rate structure and recommended that the proposed 1.9 cent per piece cost be reduced to 1.6 cents, with the zone rate spread for advertising reduced from 11.8 cents to 9.9 cents between Zones 1 and 2 and Zone 8.

For parcel post it recommended there be no increase and that the cost remain at 21 cents for the first pound and 10 cents for each additional pound, a one-cent reduction from the Postal Service's recommended 22-cent and 11-cents rates.

Congressman's Canoe Overturns In Rapids

WABASH, Ind. (AP) — Rep. J. Edward Roush, D-Ind., an ecology buff, took a canoeing trip this weekend to investigate pollution of the Salamonie and Wabash rivers in northeast Indiana. However, he got a bit closer to his subject than he anticipated.

About a quarter-mile from their starting point Sunday, Roush, his aide Jim Morrison and a woman companion ran into some rapids. The canoe spilled over and the trio fell into the river about chest deep. Rescuers helped them out of the water.

Pickaway YMCA Offers All-New Aquatic Program

Pre-School swimming classes will be offered in the all-new YMCA Summer Aquatic Program at the Quality Court Motel. Two sessions will be offered by the "Y", the first session June 12 to July 6 and the second session July 10 to Aug. 3.

CAROLYN FARYNOWSKI

In addition to the Tadpole program (pre-school), instructional swimming will be offered to older boys and girls under the YMCA's classification of polli-wogs (beginning swimmers), minnow (advance beginners), fish (low intermediates) and flying fish (middle intermediates). Testing for classifications will be June 8 and 9 and for the second session, July 7 and 8. For girls, 10 years and up the YMCA will offer a beginning synchronized swimming program.

The new aquatic program will be under the direction of Miss Carolyn Farynowski. She is an elementary education major at Grove City College, Grove City, Pa. Miss Farynowski holds certification in both YMCA and Red Cross instructional capacities. She has had four years of aquatic experience at the Warren, Pa., YMCA and spent last summer teaching mentally handicapped children.

According to the YMCA, Carolyn is also a member of the Tritons, the synchronized swimming team at Grove City College, and has appeared in the college's past two annual water shows. The beginning synchronized swimming classes, offered by Carolyn will be held on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9 to 10 a.m. The fundamentals of the art of water ballet will be offered to girls, 10 years of age and older and demonstrating average swim ability and strength.

All classes are open to any youngster who would like to learn fundamentals of swimming skills or improve his ability in the water. Classes will be kept at 12 students per class, in order to allow maximum teacher-child relationship, and at least one parent will be required to be in the water with pre-school children.

To register, and for further information concerning the program, contact the Pickaway County Family YMCA at 474-8621.

Dear Editor:

I would like to express my thanks to the Board of County Commissioners Dick Tootle, Wayne Hines and especially Charles Morris, Jr. for recognizing and responding to an urgent need of the Pickaway County Children Services Board and the many citizens, families and children the Board serves in various ways throughout the year.

The Commissioners recently purchased a vehicle for use at the Board's agency located at 137½ West Franklin Street. Children Services averages between two and three thousand miles each month in the investigation and protection of the County's children from abuse, neglect and exploitation; the placement of children temporarily or permanently when necessary; providing transportation to health resources for diagnosis, maintenance and follow-up health care services including services to crippled children; and emergency, on-going and follow-up services ranging from adoption and services to unwed parents to housing and home management related services.

The health and well-being of the Pickaway County Community will be further enhanced as a result of this action by the Commissioners. To the growth and well being of our community we are jointly committed.

Respectfully,
BRUCE D. McCRILLIS

Thieves Grab Gaming Gear

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—They must have been planning a seashore vacation, or a casino party, or a re-enactment of Custer's last stand, those thieves who broke into the Fantasy Farm Amusement Park near Middletown Sunday.

Here's what they hauled over a six-foot fence during their evening's work:

For the shore: 72 beach balls; 30 sun hats; 216 toy sailboats; 34 inflatable animals; and 4,300 novelty pencils, perhaps to be used to write those inevitable postcards to friends back home.

For the casino party: 150 decks of playing cards and 20

Says Helicopters Misused At Time Of Flood Disaster

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — A Democratic state senator is seeking a legislative probe of reports that Republican Gov. Arch Moore Jr. tied up three of the state's five National Guard helicopters at a time they were needed for Buffalo Creek flood recovery work.

Sen. Robert Nelson, D-Cabell, said he had received reports that the three helicopters were used the day after the Feb. 26 flood, which left a known 118 persons dead, to fly the governor and other officials and pairs of dice.

For the last stand: 48 toy tomahawks.

And to care for the family pets during the festivities: several bags of cat litter.

news media representatives into the flood area.

An aide to Moore said the use of the helicopters for purposes other than recovery and rescue was "vitally necessary." And a federal official who accompanied Moore on the flight called Nelson's allegations "preposterous."

Nelson has written to Senate President E. Hans McCourt, D-Webster, asking for an inquiry.

Logan Elm Alumni Banquet Scheduled

The first annual Logan Elm Alumni banquet will be held 6:30 p.m. July 8 at McDowell Exchange Building.

Reservations must be made by June 15 with Beverly Carper, Tarlton.

Once the three aircraft reached Man, the center of the rescue work, Nelson said, they were allowed to make only one assistance flight each while the governor's party drove into the devastated hollow.

Norman Yost, chief aide to Moore, said in a telephone interview from the National Governors Conference in Houston, Tex., Monday night that passengers had included National Guard, Red Cross and state police officials, four reporters and Francis X. Carney, regional director of the Office of Emergency Preparedness.

Yost said the aircraft also carried medical supplies and radio equipment needed by state police.

Carney, who was in charge of federal recovery efforts, said,

"It's a preposterous charge. Top officials have to go into a disaster area to assess the extent of the disaster. The press has to be admitted so it can know what's going on."

The Charleston Gazette reported in this morning's editions that Mrs. Donald Triplett, head nurse at Man Appalachian Regional Hospital, where flood victims were taken for treatment asked to have the three helicopters used to fly medicine, water and food into the hollow.

Female Firemen Possibility Seen

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — John Baldwin of Dayton, Ohio, has told a convention of the International Association of Fire Chiefs there may be a new look in station houses around the country soon.

"There's a possibility that women will be responding to fires with men as a result of the women's lib movement," he said here Monday.

And Baldwin said the firm he represents, Lion Uniform, Inc. of Dayton, is taking the possibility seriously.

"Our company is actively considering the design of uniforms for women firefighters," he announced to the chiefs from the association's Eastern Division.

Claims Need For Tankers

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The United States by 1985 will need not only a huge fleet of tankers to import oil but also a strong navy force to protect those ships, the chief of naval materiel says.

He said the Navy is developing plans for special aircraft-carrying vessels "to escort convoys—such as tankers—in a low threat intensity area such as that pictured in a possible war of interdiction or embarrassment at sea."

Adm. Isaac C. Kidd Jr., former commander of the U.S. 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean, told the Edison Electric Institute Convention Monday that the United States has no alternative to increasing its import of oil if it is to maintain its present economic growth.

The National Petroleum Council estimates that by 1985 imported oil will account for 57 per cent of America's needs, he said. This means the United States will need 1,450 tankers of the standard 80,000-ton variety to handle the importing chores, he said.

Kidd said a strong Navy will be needed to guard these tankers "against actions formulated by whims, spur of the moment national policy or at the urging of some big brother."

"An adversary with a token force of submarines off the Cape of Good Hope could deny oil to 25 per cent of the free world," the admiral added.

Baltimore's Bats Remain Silent

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer
BALTIMORE (AP) — Not even extra batting practice, spectacles for Boog Powell, or the arrival of usually friendly Minnesota pitching could snap the Baltimore hitting slump.

Instead, the Orioles once again surrendered rather meekly at the plate Monday night as the Twins won 3-2 on a sixth-inning double by Bobby Darwin.

The victory ended a four-game Minnesota losing streak and enabled the Twins to slip into second place in the American League West, five percentage points ahead of the idle Chicago White Sox.

Both Minnesota and Chicago are four games behind the surging Oakland Athletics, who topped the sagging Cleveland Indians 3-2 on the 10th inning home run by Campy Campaneris in the only other major league game played Monday.

One other scheduled game, Pittsburgh at San Diego in the National League, was postponed by rain.

Manager Earl Weaver of the Orioles, at a loss to explain Baltimore's .220 team batting average as compared with last season's league-leading .261 mark, ordered batting practice Monday morning.

Against Minnesota starter Dick Woodson, 4-3, and ace reliever Wayne Granger, however, the Orioles managed just five hits and two of those were bunts. Last season, Baltimore hit an amazing .312 against Minnesota pitching.

Veteran Brooks Robinson did slam his first home run of the season, in his 158th trip to the plate.

The Orioles have now lost six of their last seven games to fall 3 1/2 games behind Detroit in the American League East.

Powell's, Baltimore's erstwhile slugging first baseman with a .152 average, was hitless in three trips to the plate Monday. He wore glasses for the first time on one at bat, and struck out.

In Cleveland, the homer by Campeneris extended Oakland's winning streak to four and dealt the Indians their 10th loss in 12 games.

Reggie Jackson hit a two-run homer for the A's, giving him the league lead with 11, while Eddie Leon's homer tied the score for Cleveland in the eighth, 2-2.

John "Blue Moon" Odom, who needed help from Darold Knowles for the final out, was the winner and is now 3-1. The loser was the Cleveland workhorse, Gaylord Perry, 9-4.

Sam Snead Fails To Win U.S. Open Berth

By ALEX SACHARE
Associated Press Sports Writer
"That's about the worst I've ever played in my life," declared a very hot, very tired and very disappointed Sam Snead after failing Monday in his bid to qualify for this year's U.S. Open.

After a fine morning round of 69 in sectional qualifying at the Charlotte, N.C., Country Club, Snead ballooned to a 78 in the afternoon round. His 147 total was 12 strokes back of Doug Sanders, the top qualifier. More importantly, it was two strokes over the qualifying limit.

So Snead, winner of 84 PGA-co-sponsored tournaments—but not a single U.S. Open, will be absent when the field of 150 tees off at Pebble Beach, Calif. June 15-18.

Snead, who turned 60 nine days ago, had five bogeys on the front nine and his second round. But even with that, he would have managed to qualify if he was able to par the back nine. Instead, he bogeyed the 17th, then three-putted for a double bogey on the par four, 423-yard 18th.

The temperature was in the high 80s on this hot, muggy day, but Snead refused to use that as an excuse.

"I had no excuses," he declared, after flopping down on a bench in the scorer's tent. "I just played badly. I've played 36 holes in one day before."

So for Snead, the U.S. Open jinx continues. An Open absent 33 times, he competed in 25 consecutive Opens starting in 1937. His closest shot at a title came in 1939 at the Philadelphia Country Club, when with victory in his grasp he bogeyed the 17th and then shot a triple-bogey eight on the final hole.

Ironically, there is one Snead who can compete at Pebble Beach. That's J.C., Sam's nephew and a tour regular who was exempt from qualifying rounds because he was among the 15 leaders on the PGA tour in 1971 under the USGA point system.

Sectional qualifying for 115 spots unfilled in the Open continues today. A large field will compete at Philadelphia, where 105 golfers will vie for 21 places. Included among the entrants are tour regulars such as Gardner Dickinson, Deane Beman, Marty Fleckman, Dale Douglass and George Knudson.

Among the golfers exempt from qualifying are Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino, Gary Player and Billy Casper.

Sanders, the flashy dresser who won the Kemper Open on the pro tour this weekend, carded a 68-67-135 to lead qualifiers at Charlotte. Other tour regulars who qualified there included Hubert Green, Don Bies, Rod Funseth, Lou Graham, Kermit Zarley, Dave Marr, Bob Murphy, Bob Lunn, Mason Rudolph, Dave Hill, Charles Sifford, Jim Jamieson, Bruce Devlin and Gibby Gilbert.

Among the prominent names not to make the grade, along with Snead, were Phil Rodgers, Herb Hooper, Lionel Hebert and Bruce Fleisher. The veteran Hebert suffered from heat exhaustion late in the day.

Sectional qualifications were held in Dallas, Denver, Chicago, Cincinnati, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Speedy Crown Heads Field In SD Challenge Stakes

A small compact talent-packed field of six outstanding 4-year-old trotters headed by the 1971 Hambletonian winner, Speedy Crown, will move into the mobile starting gate Thursday night at Scioto Downs in the $11,000 Challenge Stakes.

Speedy Crown, owned by the Crown stable of Plainville, New Jersey, began his rise to fame last year at Scioto last year, and the Howard Beissinger trained and driven divisional trotting champion is really sharp going into Thursday night's trotting classic.

Racing with the "trotting trotters" on the east coast, Speedy Crown reached an early peak this year by trouncing his opposition last Friday night with a victory in 2:01 4-5 at Roosevelt Raceway, trotting the last half in 1:00 2-5, the last quarter in :29. Speedy Crown who won the 3-year-old trotting division of last year's Challenge Stakes posted a lifetime record of 1:57 2-5 at Springfield, Ill. in 1969.

Challenging the Hambletonian winner, and boasting the pole position is Soda Hill, the son of B. F. Coaltown, owned by Dr. John Jackman of Columbus, and Dr. Paul Soldner of Springfield, Ohio. Trained and driven by Art Hult, Soda Hill climaxed his outstanding three-year-old career with a successful time trial mark of 1:58 4-5.

Sharp and ready for action Thursday night is Painted Doll the vaunted 4-year-old daughter of Porterhouse, trained and co-owned by Sid Spencer of Pomeroy, Ohio. The winner of sixteen of twenty eight starts last year with a mark of 2:01 4-5, Painted Doll has been keeping company with the elite of Scioto's trotting brigade this year.

Although unsuccessful in her last three starts, Painted Doll does not have to apologize to anyone about her performance. Finishing behind season champion Flower Child two weeks ago she was timed in 2:01 1-5, and 2:01 1-5.

Arden Van, a son of Jamie, owned by Paul and Ann Shirk of Columbus has been a temperamental horse this year. Under the guidance of the crafty Terry Holton, Arden Van is beginning to round into shape. He was just three quarters of a length off Quickster in 2:06 3-5, and last week was third behind Falconette in 2:05 4-5.

Elesnar, reined by young Don Miller, and How Bout That with Bob Jones up, round out the select field.

Stoutsville LL Sets Softball Tournament

Stoutsville Little League will sponsor its annual girls' softball tournament June 24-25 at Stoutsville.

The tournament will be limited to 10 teams with trophies awarded to the first four places. Entries must be in by June 15.

Warring Hockey Leagues Head For Legal Showdown

MONTREAL (AP) — The stage was set today for a likely legal showdown between the established National Hockey League and upstart World Hockey Association as the NHL's two newest franchises, the New York Islanders and Atlanta Flames, stocked their clubs in the expansion draft.

General Managers Bill Orrey of the Islanders and Cliff Fletcher of the Flames were interested bystanders Monday as the 14 established NHL clubs tied up their rosters in the intra-league draft. Eight players changed uniforms, the most notable being 42-year-old defenseman Tim Horton, claimed by Buffalo from Pittsburgh.

But the most significant draft may have been Toronto's selection of Larry Pleau from Montreal and the Canadiens' subsequent claim of Brad Selwood as payment from the Maple Leafs.

Both players have signed contracts with the New England Whalers of the WHA as have several of the other athletes whose names appeared on the lists of draft eligibles submitted to Torrey and Fletcher Monday night.

The announced signings of Pleau and Selwood with the WHA didn't seem to bother the Maple Leafs and Canadiens Monday and if their 14 big brothers leave any quality players who are WHA-bound open today, the Islanders and Flames are likely to draft first and ask questions later.

"I'm going to draft the best players I can," said Torrey. "The fact that they are available to me means they signed a standard contract last year. And that contract contained an option clause on their services for next season."

"It has their signature and if I have to, I'll go to court to get them to honor that contract."

At about $300,000 per pick—both teams get 21 players for the $6,000,000 franchise fee—Torrey and Fletcher aren't anxious to pick select players who have no intention of performing in the NHL.

"But I know of at least one player," said Torrey, "who has been announced as going to the WHA who is, right now, negotiating with an NHL club."

Elks Down Coke In LL Majors

Elks defeated Coca Cola 8-2 in the first Little League Major game of the year, Monday at Ted Lewis Park.

For the players, it's a seller's market. For the buyers, it's a matter of drafting players not only on the basis of talent but on whether they'll play for your team, too.

Vancouver and Los Angeles chose two players each in Monday's draft, the Canucks picking Dan Tannahill, a 30-goal scorer with Boston's American Hockey League farm club, and Gerry O'Flaherty from Toronto, and the Kings getting Doug Volmar from Detroit and Barry Long from Chicago.

Pleau and Horton were the other players drafted.

DuPont Day, Tomlinson Win In Slow Pitch

Jim Snyder was the big hitter for Mfg. slugging a homerun and a single. Jerry Ogan hit a double, Bill Tootle two singles, and Tracy Webb a single.

Joe Huhn, Jim McConnell and Bud Ferguson all had homeruns for the winners.

VFW Defeats Kochheiser

Go Hide Wins At SC

Putting Lessons Help Two Qualifiers For U.S. Open

CINCINNATI (AP) — A few putting lessons came in handy Monday between rounds for two of the four qualifiers in the 36-hold U.S. Open sectional held here at Cloverbrook Country Club.

"I took my right hand out of the putt as much as possible," said Clifford Cook, of Akron's Portage Country Club, who tied Jeffersontown, Ky., pro Carl Owen at 138 to share medalist honors.

"I should have birdied the last seven holes," lamented Cook, who watched Owen card a 66 on the second 13. He had 71-67 and Owen 72-66 on the 6,600-yard, par 71 course.

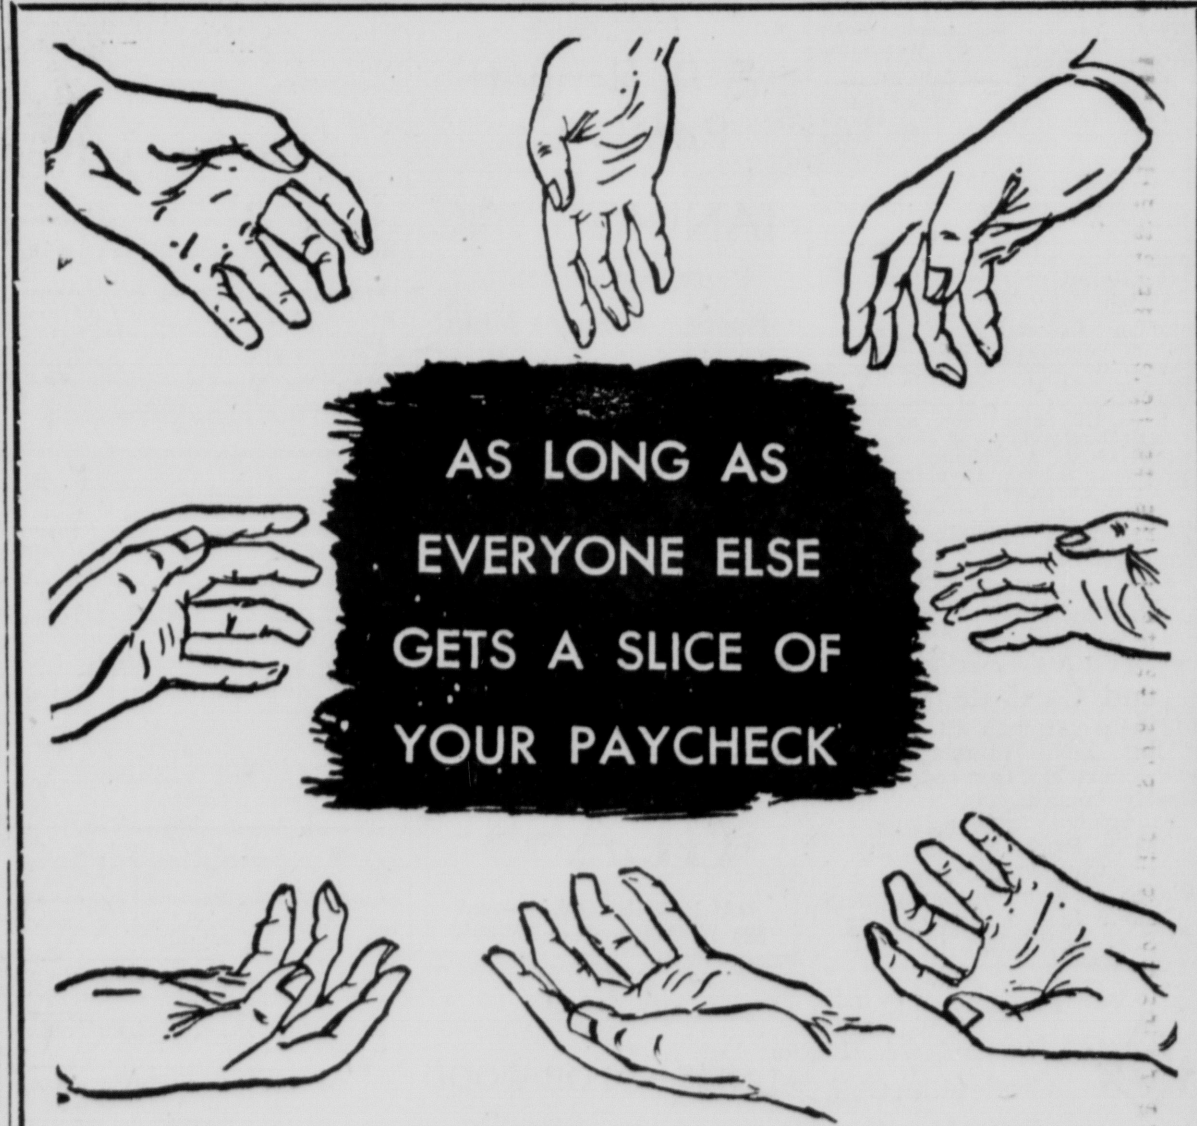

Former Ohio State golfer Ross Bartschy Jr. of Zanesville, who hit an eight-foot putt on the final green to tie Barney Thompson of Lesage, W. Va., for third with 139 credited his father with between rounds help.

Bartschy Sr., who said he was a 12-handicapper, said he noticed his son was "playing the club a little far out" and had him practice a little after 18.

Bartschy had 73-66 and Thompson had an identical score.

Bartschy beat out two-time Kentucky State champion amateur Bill Musselman of Goshen, Ky., who became alternate when he defeated Joe Cardenas of Lancaster, Ohio. They had 140 scores of 70-70 and 71-69 respectively.

Baltimore's Bats Remain Silent

By GORDON BEARD

Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — Not

even extra batting practice, spectacles for Boog Powell, or the arrival of usually friendly

Minnesota pitching could snap

the Baltimore hitting slump.

Instead, the Orioles once again surrendered rather meekly at the plate Monday night as the Twins won 3-2 on a sixth inning double by Bobby Darwin.

The victory ended a four-game Minnesota losing streak and enabled the Twins to slip into second place in the American League West, five percentage points ahead of the idle

Chicago White Sox.

Both Minnesota and Chicago are four games behind the surging Oakland Athletics, who topped the sagging Cleveland

Indians 3-2 on the 10th inning home run by Campy Campaneris in the only other major league game played Monday.

One other scheduled game,

Pittsburgh at San Diego in the National League, was postponed by rain.

Manager Earl Weaver of the Orioles, at a loss to explain

Baltimore's .220 team batting average as compared with last season's league-leading .261

mark, ordered batting practice

Monday morning.

Against Minnesota starter

Dick Woodson, 4-3, and ace reliever Wayne Granger, however, the Orioles managed just five hits and two of those were bunts. Last season, Baltimore hit an amazing .312 against Minnesota pitching.

Veteran Brooks Robinson did slam his first home run of the season, in his 158th trip to the plate.

The Orioles have now lost six of their last seven games to fall

3 1/2 games behind Detroit in the American League East.

Powell's, Baltimore's erstwhile slugging first baseman with a .152 average, was hitless in three trips to the plate Monday. He wore glasses for the first time on one at bat, and struck out.

In Cleveland, the homer by

Campeneris extended Oakland's winning streak to four and dealt the Indians their 10th loss in 12 games.

Reggie Jackson hit a two-run homer for the A's, giving him the league lead with 11, while

Eddie Leon's homer tied the score for Cleveland in the eight, 2-2.

John "Blue Moon" Odom,

who needed help from Darold

Knowles for the final out, was the winner and is now 3-1. The loser was the Cleveland work-horse, Gaylord Perry, 9-4.

Grant Appeal Is Heard By USAC Brass

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—Race driver Jerry Grant has his day "in court" today to appeal the penalty that cost him $72,000 in prize money from the Indianapolis 500-mile race.

A three-member United States Auto Club panel heard the appeal in a closed session. USAC President Charlie Brockman presided, but the other members were not identified in advance of the hearing.

Grant finished the race May 27 in second place, just seconds behind winner Mark Donohue. But the next day a protest was allowed, and Grant was dropped to 12th spot.

Grant was charged with taking on fuel from the supply of teammate Bobby Unser who dropped out early in the race. Car owner Dan Gurney, who filed the appeal, admitted the pit crew inadvertently pumped fuel from Unser's pit tank into Grant's car, in violation of race rules.

Gurney contended it was an honest mistake because Grant, coming in for a tire change with only 30 miles left in the race, overshot his own pit and ended in Unser's.

Gurney challenged the severity of the penalty, 10 places and a difference of nearly $72,000 in the prize allotment. He also said the rules set no penalty for violating the fuel limits.

Brockman said results of the hearing would not be announced until Wednesday or Thursday. "We do not want to make an announcement on the outcome until we are able to write a full report giving our reasons," he said.

Cage Boss Scoffs At Merger Talk

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Earl Foreman, owner of the Virginia Squires of the American Basketball Association, said Monday reports that the ABA will be absorbed by the National Basketball Association were the "babbling of idiots."

A story in the Greensboro, N.C., Daily News, citing an unidentified source, said Monday the ABA would cease to exist after NBA meetings June 15-16.

The same report said the Virginia franchise was "heavily in debt to the ABA and may not be accepted" into the NBA. Foreman said this was a "misunderstanding" by the people who are saying it.

The Daily News story said Carolina Cougars owner Tedd Munchak, on behalf of the ABA, has been meeting secretly with NBA commissioner Walter Kennedy. The report said they have reached agreement to allow six or seven ABA clubs to enter the NBA.

Squires administrative vice president John Kerr said "we have no knowledge of any new plans for absorption by the NBA."

"Earl (Foreman) talked to Kennedy and Munchak and both of them said they didn't know anything about it," Kerr said.

Sanders Jumps To 8th On PGA Money List

NEW YORK (AP)—Doug Sanders' victory in last weekend's Kemper Open golf tournament boosted him to eighth place on the season money-winnings list, the PGA Tournament Players Division announced Monday.

Sanders, who won only $24,891 in all of 1971, earned $35,000 for winning at Charlotte, N.C., raising his season's total to $74,232. That purse moved Sanders from 26th place to eighth on the list.

Bench Named NL Player Of Week

CINCINNATI (AP)—Cincinnati catcher Johnny Bench today was named the National League's player of the week as the Reds moved into New York on the wave of an eight-game winning streak.

Bench, the first Reds player to win the honor this year, batted .424 the week of May 29 through June 4 and tied a National League home run record with seven in five consecutive games. The mark had been set by Jim Bottomley of the 1929 St. Louis Cardinals.

The announcement was made by National League President Charles Feeney.

Bench's 14-for-33 raised his season batting average to .296 and he collected 15 runs batted in for the week.

Bench now has 13 homers and 35 RBI for the season, trailing leader Dave Kingman of San Francisco by one homer and three RBIs.

Bench also takes an 11-game hitting streak into tonight's game with the Eastern Division-leading Mets.

Grant Appeal Is Heard By USAC Brass

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—Race driver Jerry Grant has his day "in court" today to appeal the penalty that cost him $72,000 in prize money from the Indianapolis 500-mile race.

A three-member United States Auto Club panel heard the appeal in a closed session. USAC President Charlie Brockman presided, but the other members were not identified in advance of the hearing.

Grant finished the race May 27 in second place, just seconds behind winner Mark Donohue. But the next day a protest was allowed, and Grant was dropped to 12th spot.

Grant was charged with taking on fuel from the supply of teammate Bobby Unser who dropped out early in the race. Car owner Dan Gurney, who filed the appeal, admitted the pit crew inadvertently pumped fuel from Unser's pit tank into Grant's car, in violation of race rules.

Gurney contended it was an honest mistake because Grant, coming in for a tire change with only 30 miles left in the race, overshot his own pit and ended in Unser's.

Gurney challenged the severity of the penalty, 10 places and a difference of nearly $72,000 in the prize allotment. He also said the rules set no penalty for violating the fuel limits.

Brockman said results of the hearing would not be announced until Wednesday or Thursday. "We do not want to make an announcement on the outcome until we are able to write a full report giving our reasons," he said.

Cage Boss Scoffs At Merger Talk

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Earl Foreman, owner of the Virginia Squires of the American Basketball Association, said Monday reports that the ABA will be absorbed by the National Basketball Association were the "labelling of idiots."

A story in the Greensboro, N.C., Daily News, citing an unidentified source, said Monday the ABA would cease to exist after NBA meetings June 15-16.

The same report said the Virginia franchise was "heavily in debt to the ABA and may not be accepted" into the NBA. Foreman said this was a "misunderstanding" by the people who are saying it.

The Daily News story said Carolina Cougars owner Tedd Munchak, on behalf of the ABA, has been meeting secretly with NBA commissioner Walter Kennedy. The report said they have reached agreement to allow six or seven ABA clubs to enter the NBA.

Squires administrative vice president John Kerr said "we have no knowledge of any new plans for absorption by the NBA."

"Earl (Foreman) talked to Kennedy and Munchak and both of them said they didn't know anything about it," Kerr said.

Sanders Jumps To 8th On PGA Money List

NEW YORK (AP)—Doug Sanders' victory in last week-end's Kemper Open golf tournament boosted him to eighth place on the season money-winners list, the PGA Tournament Players Division announced Monday.

Sanders, who won only $24,891 in all of 1971, earned $35,000 for winning at Charlotte, N.C., raising his season's total to $74,232. That purse moved Sanders from 26th place to eighth on the list.

Shriners Plan Ladies Night

DR. HAROLD E. VOSS

RAY PARCHER

Dr. Harold E. Voss, Potentate of the 14,000 nobles of Aladdin Shrine Temple, and his Divan will attend the Pickaway Shrine Club at its annual Ladies Night Party held at the Clubhouse Restaurant on Route 23 North of South Bloomfield Monday.

About 100 Shrine nobles and their ladies are expected to attend.

Ray Parcher, president of the Pickaway Shrine Club, and his officers will be hosts for the evening.

Voss was elected Potentate of Aladdin Shrine Temple in Columbus in January and is serving in his high office during the Shrinetercentennial Year. In 1972, nearly 1,000,000 Shriners in North America are celebrating the 100th anniversary of the Shrine and the 50th anniversary of the Shrine's crippled children's hospitals program.

The Shrine supports 19 Shriners' Hospitals for Crippled Children and three Burns Institutes. Crippled children, regardless of race, color or creed, whose parents cannot afford costly hospital treatment, are cared for free of charge in these hospitals.

Badly burned children are treated in the recently built Burns Institutes, which are both hospitals and research centers.

The nearest Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children is at Lexington, Ky. The nearest Burns Institute is at Cincinnati.

The nobles of Aladdin Temple also sponsor the Aladdin Crippled Children's Hospital Association, Inc. The association has a clinic at Riverside Methodist Hospital in Columbus each Wednesday from 8 to 10 a.m. for examination of potential patients, and it provides care and treatment for many children. A child must be recommended by a Shriner for examination.

Technically, the Shrine is not a Masonic organization. However, to become a Shriner, a man must be a member of either the Scottish Rite or York Rite Masonic bodies.

Aladdin Temple has 40 Shrine Clubs throughout Central and Southeastern Ohio.

Wisconsin Getting Rid Of Its Carp

FOND DU LACK, Wis. (AP) — Wisconsin fishermen might blanch at the thought of it, but carp are being trucked out of the state by the thousands to replenish commercial fishing ponds in Illinois, Indiana and Ohio.

And the process that supplies carp for out-of-state fishermen is proving a success at making Wisconsin anglers happier.

The state Department of Natural Resources has begun a program to extract carp from several Wisconsin lakes where they have taken over to the detriment of game fish.

Most state fishermen consider the carp a poor cousin when compared to the walleye, trout, bass and panfish they prefer. The carp is credited with doing little more than muddy water as it roots in lake bottoms for food.

The DNR took some 22,000 pounds of carp out of the Fox River near the Montello Dam last week on the first day of its carp elimination program.

An electric wire and trap were set up on the carp spawning run, with the shock used to stun carp enough to keep them from advancing up the river.

DNR officials then net the temporarily disabled fish, transfer them to water trucks and then to holding ponds, where they are kept to await bids from the private fishing pond operators in nearby states.

If the demand of Illinois, Indiana and Ohio fishermen is not enough to use up the supply of captured carp, and few Wisconsin fishermen could understand if it was, the fish will be sold to fish markets.

Storms Hit Lakes Region

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A band of showers and thunderstorms whipped along the edge of a cold air mass today from Lower Michigan, across the lower Great Lakes and into Colorado.

Though most of the rest of the nation remained under fair and dry skies, a few scattered thunderstorms were reported in the mountain West.

Flash-flood warnings were issued along Fountain Creek between Colorado Springs and Pueblo, Colo., following heavy rains during thunderstorms late Monday. A rainfall of over 2 1/2 inches was reported at Colorado Springs, along with considerable hail.

Another thunderstorm poured up to six inches of rain over some roads in western Illinois.

Rainfall at other locations was generally less than an inch.

A fringe of cool air hung down from the Northeast to the upper Great Lakes, with early morning temperatures generally in the 40s and 50s. The rest of the nation was warmer, with readings in the 60s and 70s, except for the arid Southwest, where the 80s were the rule.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 44 degrees at Massena, N.Y., to 86 degrees at Needles, Calif.

Questions Taxpayers Ask

(Q) Someone broke into my home and stole $200. Can I deduct this amount as a theft loss?

(A) A personal theft or casualty loss is deductible only to the extent that it exceeds $100 for each loss. Therefore, your deduction would be $100 your actual loss of $200 less the $100 limitation. The loss would also be reduced by any insurance proceeds.

For more information on deducting casualty and theft losses, see IRS Publication 547, Tax Information on Disasters, Casualty Losses and Thefts. It's available by dropping a postcard to your IRS district office.

(Q) I waited until April 17 to file my return. How long will it take me to get my refund?

(A) If there are no mistakes on your return that might delay processing, it normally takes about six weeks after a return is filed. It might take a little longer to get your refund, however, due to the large volume of returns filed in April.

(Q) I am an alien working in the United States. I plan to return to my home soon. I am told I must get a "sailing permit." What is that?

(A) A Certificate of Compliance, popularly known as a "sailing permit," must be obtained by most aliens before their departure from the United States.

Wisconsin

Getting Rid Of Its Carp

FOND DU LACK, Wis. (AP) — Wisconsin fishermen might blanch at the thought of it, but carp are being trucked out of the state by the thousands to replenish commercial fishing ponds in Illinois, Indiana and Ohio.

And the process that supplies carp for out-of-state fishermen is proving a success at making Wisconsin anglers happier.

The state Department of Natural Resources has begun a program to extract carp from several Wisconsin lakes where they have taken over to the detriment of game fish.

Most state fishermen consider the carp a poor cousin when compared to the walleye, trout, bass and panfish they prefer. The carp is credited with doing little more than muddy water as it roots in lake bottoms for food.

The DNR took some 22,000 pounds of carp out of the Fox River near the Montello Dam last week on the first day of its carp elimination program.

An electric wire and trap were set up on the carp spawning run, with the shock used to stun carp enough to keep them from advancing up the river.

DNR officials then net the temporarily disabled fish, transfer them to water trucks and then to holding ponds, where they are kept to await bids from the private fishing pond operators in nearby states.

If the demand of Illinois, Indiana and Ohio fishermen is not enough to use up the supply of captured carp, and few Wisconsin fishermen could understand if it was, the fish will be sold to fish markets.

Storms Hit Lakes Region

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A band of showers and thunderstorms whipped along the edge of a cold air mass today from Lower Michigan, across the lower Great Lakes and into Colorado.

Though most of the rest of the nation remained under fair and dry skies, a few scattered thunderstorms were reported in the mountain West.

Flash-flood warnings were issued along Fountain Creek between Colorado Springs and Pueblo, Colo., following heavy rains during thunderstorms late Monday. A rainfall of over 2 1/2 inches was reported at Colorado Springs, along with considerable hail.

Another thunderstorm poured up to six inches of rain over some roads in western Illinois. Rainfall at other locations was generally less than an inch.

A fringe of cool air hung down from the Northeast to the upper Great Lakes, with early morning temperatures generally in the 40s and 50s. The rest of the nation was warmer, with readings in the 60s and 70s, except for the arid Southwest, where the 80s were the rule.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 44 degrees at Massena, N.Y., to 86 degrees at Needles, Calif.

RAINFALL AT OTHER LOCATIONS WAS GENERALLY LESS THAN AN INCH.

Questions Taxpayers Ask

(Q) Someone broke into my home and stole $200. Can I deduct this amount as a theft loss?

(A) A personal theft or casualty loss is deductible only to the extent that it exceeds $100 for each loss. Therefore, your deduction would be $100 your actual loss of $200 less the $100 limitation. The loss would also be reduced by any insurance proceeds.

For more information on deducting casualty and theft losses, see IRS Publication 547, Tax Information on Disasters, Casualty Losses and Thefts. It's available by dropping a postcard to your IRS district office.

(Q) I waited until April 17 to file my return. How long will it take me to get my refund?

(A) If there are no mistakes on your return that might delay processing, it normally takes about six weeks after a return is filed. It might take a little longer to get your refund, however, due to the large volume of returns filed in April.

(Q) I am an alien working in the United States. I plan to return to my home soon. I am told I must get a "sailing permit." What is that?

(A) A Certificate of Compliance, popularly known as a "sailing permit," must be obtained by most aliens before their departure from the United States. Generally, you must file a Form 1040C or 2063 to get a "sailing permit."

The permit should be obtained from the District Director of Internal Revenue for the district in which you are located at least two weeks but not earlier than 30 days before your departure.

(Q) I employ an investment counselor to advise me on what stocks to buy. Are the fees I pay him deductible?

(A) Yes. Investment counseling fees are deductible as income-producing expenses provided you itemize deductions.
